

Total Ozone Content (Dobson Units)

Total ozone content over Antarctica on September 24, 2002 split into two lobes, not previously observed since satellite observation began in late 1978. (Data from the TOMS instrument on the Earth Probe satellite.)